

BYLAWS OF THE FACULTY OF THE
THE ROBERT LARNER M.D. COLLEGE OF MEDICINE
THE UNIVERSITY OF VERMONT
AND STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

As Approved by
The President and Provost
DATE: September 19 2020

Article I
INTRODUCTION AND ORGANIZATION

The faculty of the Larner College of Medicine includes all professors, associate professors, assistant professors, faculty scientists, clinical practice physicians, and instructors ~~and~~ and volunteer pathways of the Larner College of Medicine. The faculty is further subdivided into departments, each administered by a Department Chair. Departments and their title, and areas of responsibility are determined by the Board of Trustees of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College (herein referred to as University) upon recommendation of the Dean, the Provost and the President. Departments may be further divided into divisions.

The Dean, committees of the faculty and the faculty determine the governance and policymaking processes within their purview. All such policies, guidelines and procedures are in accordance with the University and the standards contained in Functions and Structure of a Medical School as formulated by the Liaison Committee on Medical Education.

Article II
ADMINISTRATION

Section 1 The officers of the faculty of the Larner College of Medicine consist of the Dean; the Senior Associate Deans; the Associate Deans; the Assistant Deans; the Secretary of the Faculty; and the Chair, Vice Chair(s) and Division Chiefs of the departments of the Larner College of Medicine.

Section 2. The Dean is responsible for the effective administration of the Larner College of Medicine. The Dean is also responsible for the programs of study in the Larner College of Medicine, regarding their purposes and content, the effectiveness of instruction, the counseling and advising of students, and the supervision of the faculty of the Larner College of Medicine Meetings of the faculty are presided over by the Dean. With advice from the Chairs, the Dean makes recommendations to

Section 3. The faculty also has defined responsibilities relative to the medical education program. These include but are not limited to, establishing criteria for selection, developing and implementing effective policies and procedures regarding, and making decisions about, medical student application, selection, admission, assessment, promotion, graduation, and any disciplinary action. The medical school makes available to all interested parties its criteria, standards, policies, and procedures regarding these matters.

Article V

DEPARTMENT ORGANIZATION

Section 1. Duties of Academic Departments. Departments are administrative units charged with implementation of the educational, research, and clinical programs of the Larner College of Medicine. Formal recognition of a department requires approval of the Dean, the LCOM faculty, the Provost and the Board of Trustees.

The Dean shall meet with each department chair at least annually to review the department report and academic activities. Additionally, basic science and clinical departments shall be periodically reviewed comprehensively for the University's policies and procedures as found in the University Officers Manual

Section 2. Jurisdiction. Each department has jurisdiction over matters that concern primarily its own internal policies if those policies are consistent with the policies of the Larner College of Medicine and University.

Section 3 Chairs of Academic Departments

- a) Appointments. Eligibility for appointment as Chair of a department is established by academic achievement in the same or related fields. An initial appointment is made by the Provost upon recommendation of the Dean who is advised by a search committee appointed by the Dean. Reappointments to the position of Chair are made annually by the Dean with approval by the Provost via procedures described in the University and University Officers' Manual (Section

Article VI
COMMITTEES

Section 1. The standing committees of the faculty consist of

- x Continuous Quality Improvement Committee
- x Admissions Committee
- x Advancement Committee
- x Committee on Fitness
- x Medical Curriculum Committee
- x Faculty Standards Committee
- x Nominating Committee.

Each standing committee reports at least annually to the faculty. All policies and procedures of standing committees are reviewed by the Larner College of Medicine Advisory Council and approved by the Dean and the faculty of the Larner College of Medicine annually. Membership and authority of these committees is per document attached to these bylaws in Appendix I. Interested faculty for election or appointment is determined through an annual nomination or self-nomination process that is shared with all faculty and department chairs. The Larner College of Medicine makes every effort to promote inclusive excellence in medicine and supports the appointment of diverse members to committees. We believe that diverse members enhances the effectiveness of these committees and positions them well to address the evolving needs of the College. The faculty are appointed or elected to staggered three-year terms by the Dean. Ad hoc committees may be appointed by the Dean as needed for specific projects. A simple majority is a quorum for all committees and is required for all votes.

Section 2. Continuous Quality Improvement (CQI) Committee. The CQI Committee provides oversight for ongoing quality improvement processes in support of our medical education mission. This includes, but is not limited to, issues related to the Liaison Committee on Medical Education accreditation standards and elements. The purpose is to monitor and improve, in real-time, educational program quality and ensure the medical education program's compliance with accreditation standards. As appropriate, this process will address areas of the Strategic Plan that require monitoring or improvement.

The Committee's work includes, however is not limited to: determining which issues and accreditation elements are monitored, how often monitoring occurs, which individuals/groups receive and review the results, and the process, accountability, and timeline for improving identified issues. The Committee works closely with, and does not duplicate, the work or authority of the Medical Curriculum Committee.

The Continuous Quality Improvement Committee is composed of eight members: a faculty Chair, with relevant experience, appointed by the Dean, and four additional elected faculty with expertise in pre Committee or leaders directly involved in the oversight of functions reviewed by the Lerner College of Medicine accreditation process would not serve on this Committee.

Section 3. Admissions Committee The Admissions Committee determines criteria for eligibility for admission, subject to the approval of the faculty, and selects qualified applicants for the study of medicine. The final responsibility for accepting students to the Lerner College of Medicine rests with the formally constituted Admissions Committee. The selection of individual medical students for admission is not influenced by any political or financial factors.

The Admissions Committee is composed of 15 voting members appointed by the Dean. The Committee Chair is a faculty member, who is elected annually from the voting members and may be re-elected. At least eighty percent (80%) of the voting members are faculty. The Dean may appoint non-faculty voting members to the committee not to exceed twenty percent (20%) of the total membership of the committee. The committee must be free of bias and potential conflict of interest.

Section 4. Advancement Committee. The purpose of the Advancement Committee is to protect the public and the medical profession by ensuring that the academic standards of the Lerner College of Medicine are upheld. It is composed of faculty members and a student from each class who review the overall academic performance and progress of each student at regular intervals and determines whether students should advance in the levels of the curriculum. The committee also determines the course of action for individual students who fail to show sufficient academic performance and progress during their studies. Decisions of the committee are final unless appealed to the Dean. In its procedures and actions, the committee is governed by policies which are contained in the Lerner College of Medicine Medical Student Handbook.

The Advancement Committee includes 9 voting faculty members appointed by the Dean, a student class representative in good academic standing elected from each class by class majority vote and serves for the duration of the matriculation. Student members of the committee are voting members who abstain for votes that pertain to a member of their class. The Committee Chair is elected annually from the voting members and may be re-elected. Committee members shall not include faculty who are involved in summative student assessment.

Section 5. Fitness Committee. The purpose of the Fitness Committee is to protect the public and medical profession by ensuring that the professional standards of the Lerner College of Section 6. Medical Curriculum Committee. The Medical Curriculum Committee is the institutional body that oversees the medical education program. The Committee provides integrated institutional responsibility for the overall design, management, integration and enhancement of a coherent and coordinated medical curriculum. The Committee implements needed changes to the medical education curriculum. The Committee is a signatory of national medical education priorities and requirements established by the Association of American Medical Colleges, and the American Medical Association through the Liaison Committee on Medical Education.

The Medical Curriculum Committee is composed of a non-voting Chair who is the Senior Associate Dean for Medical Education, 15 voting members of the faculty, a non-voting student member representing each class of the faculty members, eight are elected by the faculty, seven are appointed by the Dean, a student class representative, in good academic standing, is elected by class majority vote and serves a three-year term.

Section 3. One-sixth of the salaried members of the Larner College of Medicine faculty will constitute a quorum for purposes of voting.

Section 4. All individuals having a faculty appointment in the Larner College of Medicine are eligible to vote.

Article VIII

AMENDMENTS

Section 1 The Bylaws of the Faculty of the Larner College of Medicine may be amended at any regular meeting of the faculty by two-thirds vote of a membership quorum as defined in Article Section 3 above. Written notice of any amendment and the subject matter thereof must be given in the notification of the meeting at which it is to be considered.

Section 2. The Bylaws of the Faculty of the Larner College of Medicine may be amended by an electronic ballot of the faculty providing that two-thirds of the members voting vote in favor of the amendment, and one-sixth of the salaried faculty return a ballot by the due date. Written notification of the amendment is to be provided no less than twenty (21) calendar days before the close of balloting.

Section 3. These Bylaws of the Faculty of the Larner College of Medicine are to be reviewed for revisions a minimum of every eight years. At such time, the Dean will convene an ad hoc committee of faculty to review and propose revisions that are to be voted on at a duly warned meeting of the Larner College of Medicine faculty.

Section 4. Material amendment or revision of the Bylaws of the Faculty of the Larner College of Medicine

