

Exploring Vermont Dairy

Lesson 4 Pre- Assignment

Instructions: For this lesson you will be looking at how Vermont dairy farmers make decisions each day. Some decisions are straight-forward while others are challenging and require research and time before the decision can be made.

For this activity you will divide into groups of three. Each of the members of the group represents one of the partners on a dairy farm. Each of the members must present their point of view and then the group must come to a
