

VERMONT VEGETABLE AND BERRY GROWER NEWS – December 10, 2021

Compiled by Vern Grubinger, University of Vermont Extension

<https://www.uvm.edu/extension/horticulture/commercial>

(802) 257-7967 ext. 303, vernon.grubinger@uvm.edu

JOIN THE VERMONT VEGETABLE AND BERRY GROWERS ASSOCIATION

VVBGA membership is by the calendar year, for farms, and for commercial businesses or organization that serve them. The fee for farms is $60 until Jan. 31, then $70. If this poses a financial hardship you can simply pay less. The fee for commercial members is $80.

Members get access to the VVBGA listserv for sharing information, and for buying and selling from one another. Farms also get access to the VVBGA web site which includes CAPS (Community Accreditation for Produce Safety), and Soil Health platforms for planning, recordkeeping and more. Commercial members get listed on the VVBGA web site, they are invited to submit an ad in the VVBGA Annual Meeting booklet, and they can submit a short information video for the annual meeting that gets posted on the VVBGA YouTube channel.

